

HEIRLOOM WEDDINGS

A Pink and Gray Destination Wedding

It's not often you see a destination wedding with such a romantic vintage touch. I just love the sweet details in this pink and gray Costa Rica wedding! Especially the cake, you can never go wrong with a ruffled cake! Everything is simple, elegant, and intimate.

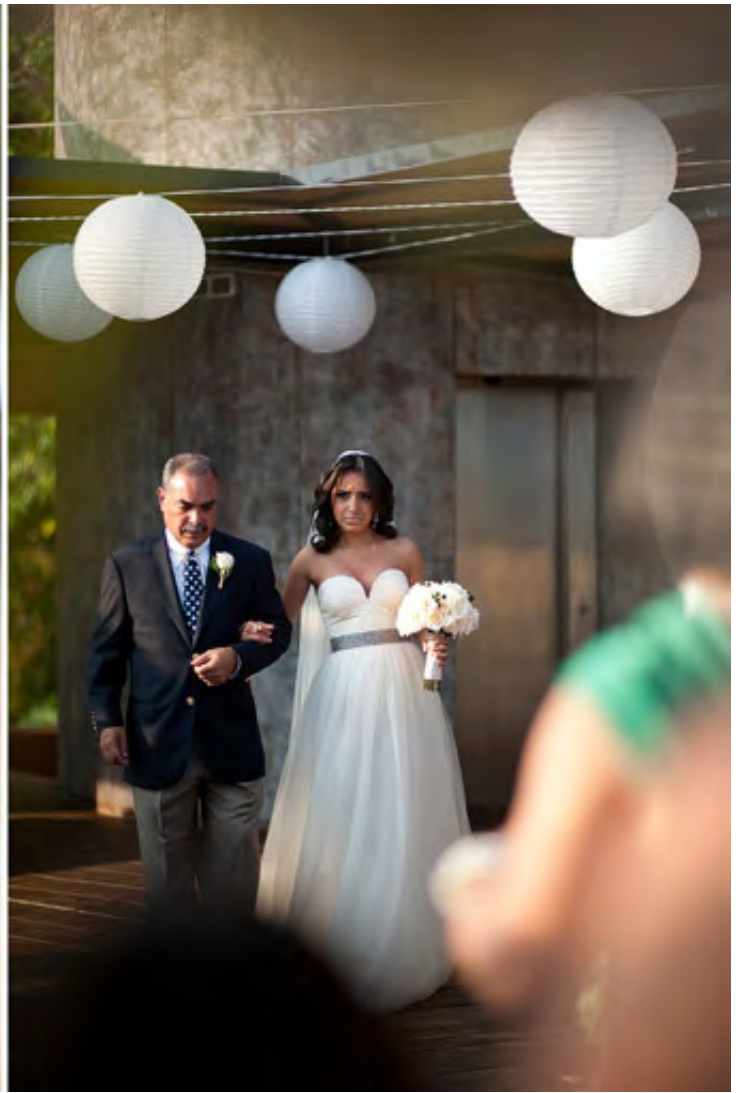

The bride Amanda shares:

Harry and I have a long history and have been in one another's lives for over 10 years. We traveled to Costa Rica in 2009 for vacation and fell in love with the laid back and relaxing environment along with the amazing people. We knew from the very beginning we wanted an intimate and FUN wedding. I wanted something truly romantic.

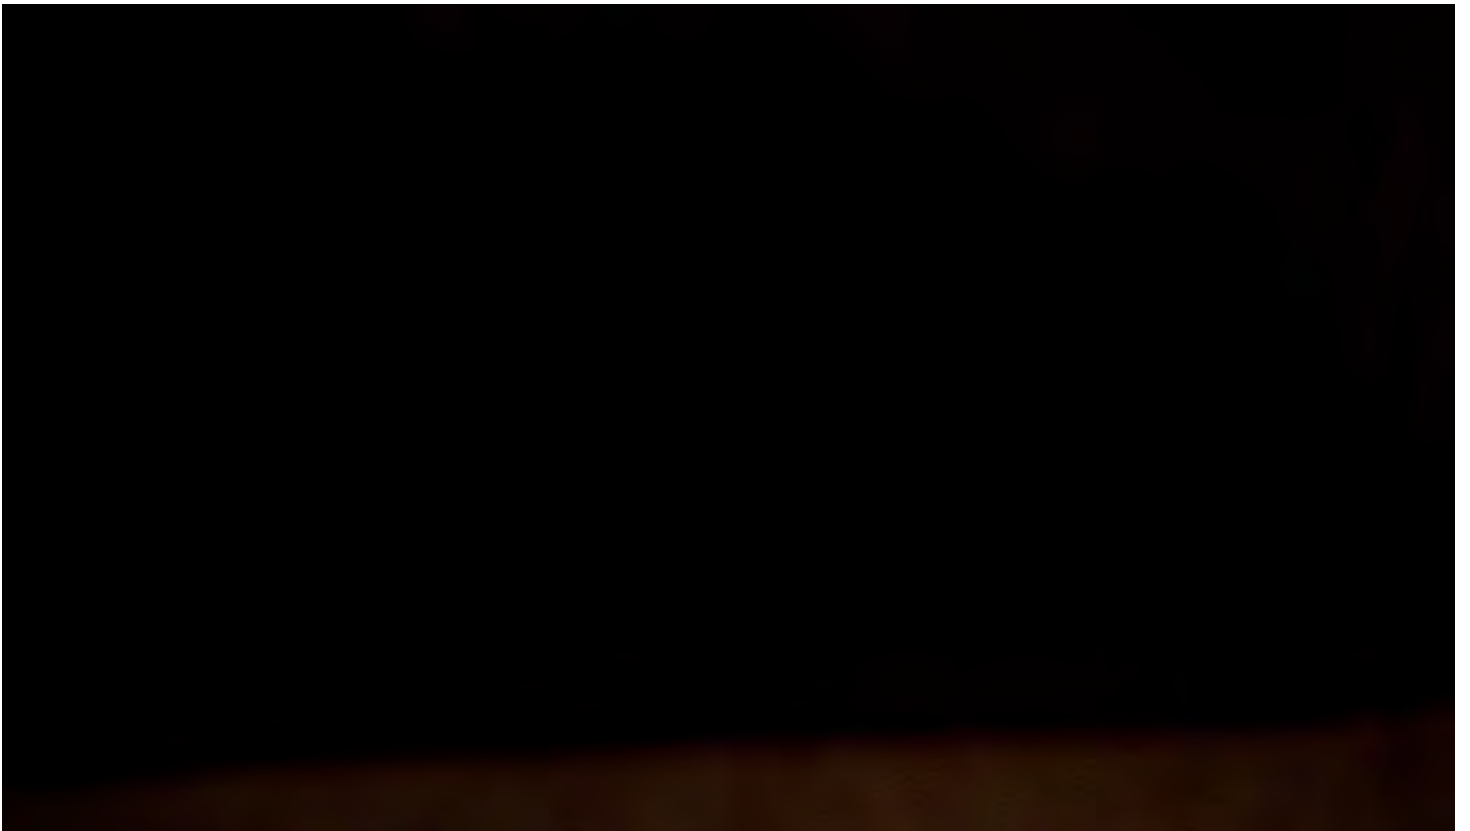

As we looked around for venues, I knew that I didn't want a beach ceremony. This seemed odd to many people considering the gorgeous beaches Costa Rica is known for but I just knew that a beach wouldn't create the intimacy I was looking for. When I stumbled upon Punto De Vista Harry and I knew that we had found the one. The roof was the perfect backdrop of ocean and stunning sunset while maintaining the intimacy we sought.

Photography | Comfort Studio

Venue | Villa Punto de Vista

Planner | Events & Weddings Costa Rica

Florist | Artflower

Cake | Mariposa Bakery

Invitations | Bella Figura

DJ | Cabo Luna Event Rentals

Rentals | Costa Mesa

Dress | J. Crew

Top